For One Cent 20 Days Congress Wrestling Older Brides, Better Race So They Brained Them

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1926, by Star Company.)

THE COURTS are still rendering preliminary decisions concerning the Tea Pot Dome scandal. There was less delay with a small thief recently tried. The judge gave him twenty days in jail for every cent stolen. That rate of punishment would put one of the Tea Pot Dome gentlemen in jail, according to his own figures, for about six hundred million years. Our juries make better terms for wholesalers.

YOUR NOBLE Congress is back at work wrestling with your problems, which include the coal strike, the farmers' worries, surplus crops, foreign lands not inclined to buy with dear American money, etc.

THE DEMOCRATIC leader of the House wants a Congressional investigation of the Colonel Mitchell case. He suspects that Mitchell was punished for giving facts to the House aviation committee.

Of course he was, but you remember the gambler, told he cheated, who replied, "I know it, but I do not like to be told about it."

The War Department does not like to be told about that Mitchell case. Let us hope, nevertheless, that it will be told.

IN 1913 the average age of German brides was 24. Now it is 27. An excellent thing for the German race, mothers older on the average will have sons and daughters, stronger, on the average. And then woman of 27 will know, if she ever knows anything, that men should be selected carefully.

Colonel E. H. Green, very rich Texan, and his wife, who have adopted eleven girls, say: "Girls need to be protected from their first sweethearts. A girl in the 'puppy-love' stage needs protection from herself. Just as she needs a dentist, when she has a toothache."

To a young girl every man, any man, is a miracle of perfection, until she finds a better one. Colonel Green is right.

STRANGE THINGS happen on Russian territory. Dr. Shokow vaccinated ten children with diphtheria germs, instead of anti-toxin. They all died. He went to jail for ten weeks.

PEASANTS in a Russian village beat a man and woman into unconsciousness, after keeping them in freezing water for hours. The desire was to make them confess petty thefts.

Despite the horrible cruelty, the couple recovered consciousness as the sun rose, and that, according to the peasants, proved that they were sorcerers.

The village priest, who was with the mob, decided that undoubtedly the sorcerers must be beaten on the head with a wagon axle, to take away the curse. This was done, the couple duly murdered, and the spell averted.

IN VIEW of the dense ignorance of all concerned the peasants were forgiven, all but the actual wielders of the axle and the priest who justified the deed on the ground that "Christ had whipped the money changers with a knout."

They go to jail for one year. Such things have not happened in this fair land since the days

DEATH VERDICT UNFAIR TO CLUMSY MORON, DEFENSE TELLS JURY

Manchester, N. H, Jan. 5.—Agape with keen interest for the first time since his murder trial started, Louis Labombarde leaned forward in his chair in Superior Court today as he heard his attorney, Jeremiah J. Doyle, rise to flowery heights as he pleaded with the jury to spare the life of a "poor simp," "a blundering kid" and "mental defective." Labombarde is charged with the murder of Helen Gillis at Hudson.

Summing up for the defense was begun easier after noon and ended this afternoon. Thundering at the jury with all the rhetoric at his command, Doyle held the fast attention of the courtroom packed with a breathless crowd.

"The reward they offered for the conviction of the murderer was at the bottom of the whole business," Doyle argued.

"This youth, who they tell us has the mentality of a child of ten, is on trial for his life. Consider, gentlemen, how you would treat the

BERLIN AND HIS BRIDE HIDE AT ATLANTIC CITY

New York, Jan. 5 (I.N.S.).—Carefree Mackay, millionaire telegraph and cable magnate will never "forgive nor forget" his daughter Ellin's runaway marriage with Irving Berlin, composer, the man of whom he disapproved.

Mackay made this known today through a son-in-law, Kenneth O'Brien.

Informed that Mr. and Mrs. Berlin were honeymooning at Atlantic City, O'Brien said that Mackay "did not know it and did not care where his daughter is."

At Atlantic City Berlin and his bride are stopping at the Ritz Carlton.

The couple on arrival in Atlantic City went at once to a bridal suite and left orders that they were "not at home" to anyone. They have remained in seclusion all day.

They vanished from New York by auto after merely telling a group of

CHARGES KLAN'S CASH HAS DISAPPEARED

New Haven, Ct., Jan. 5.—A nation-wide wave of public sentiment against the Ku Klux Klan and speedy disintegration of the powerful hooded order was predicted here today, following the withdrawal of New Haven Klan No. 1 on the ground that "no American worthy of the name can longer affiliate with the organization."

The action of the New Haven Klan came with stunning suddenness when Arthur J. Mann, until recently Kligrapp of the order, addressed a public letter to Walter J. Bossert, imperial kliliff at Indianapolis, informing the latter that the New Haven Klan had severed ties with the mother organization and charging "crooked policies" of officials.

Thousands of dollars have poured into the national coffers. Mann charges, and no one knows what has become of the money.

DEMAND LEGISLATURE REVOKE 'PHONE BOOST

Revocation by the Legislature of the 20 per cent. increase in rates granted the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. and refusal to renew the Elevated control contract under any terms which guarantee dividends from the pockets of taxpayers and car riders were among twelve demands presented to Governor Fuller today by members of the Progressive Action Committee.

The committee presented the signatures of 142,000 voters of Massachusetts who cast their ballots for La Follette for President in 1924.

Those who presented the document are: Robert H. O. Schulz of Dedham, Professor Clarence H. Skinner of Tufts College, Rev. Smith O. Dexter of Concord, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell of Dorchester and Miss Amy S. Woods of Boston.

The committee also demanded revocation of the 20 per cent. increase in railroad commutation fares.

Other demands were a constructive policy for dealing with unemployment, adherence to the direct primary system of nomination, more rollcall votes in the Legislature, home rule for Boston, study and publication of "all the facts" relating to Massachusetts industry and a thorough study of water power in New England as an aid to Massachusetts industry.

EVELYN NEAR DEATH, NOSE BROKEN IN ORGY; DOPE NOTE IN ROOM

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw drank poison early today in an attempt to commit suicide, after a prolonged New Year's celebration, and was in a critical condition in a hospital.

Her physicians held out some hope for her recovery. The attempt at suicide took place in an apartment where she had been living during a cabaret engagement here. Her son, Russell Thaw, was with her at the time, as was her maid.

Late this afternoon her condition became serious. Her physicians were forced to administer heart stimulants.

A letter found in Miss Nesbit's apartment signed "Dr. H." post marked Brownsville, Pa., Jan. 1, and beginning "Dearest Eve" was seized by the police for inquiry.

"Dan narcotic gang were pushing me for the $150," it ran, "but had to

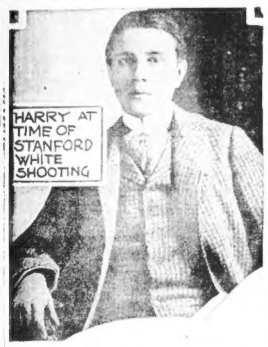
TRAGEDY AGAIN STALKS EVELYN THAW AFTER 20 YEARS' TRIPPING DOWN PRIMROSE PATH



Broken physically, Harry came back to his old haunts on Broadway last Summer and for a night or two tasted of the delights of his former gay life.

Just out of her 'teens, she told the jury of confessing to Harry her relations with Stanford White, the architect, before Thaw married her.

The boy, now about 18, stubbornly refused to discuss the drinking revel and broken nose that led his mother into her second attempt at suicide.

Thaw shot his wife's alleged seducer on Madison Square Roof Garden in June, 1905. He was committed to Matteawan Insane Asylum, subsequently escaping.

After twenty years, a divorce and marriage to Jack Clifford, her dancing partner, whom she left, Evelyn still manages to make a living as a dancer.

Returning from Europe in 1912, Evelyn displayed a baby, the paternity of which Thaw denied.

BERLIN AND HIS BRIDE ARE ON HONEYMOON

Reports that they were to sail on a European trip, it was learned, have not been confirmed. They have planned an extended European trip, it was learned, but it was made arrangements to sail on the Leviathan next Saturday. They will occupy one of the finest suites on the liner.

Society was pleasantly surprised, although somewhat stunned, by the sudden marriage, while Broadway, with known and shadowy forth, gave best wishes to Irving on his rise to fame and riches, smiled and shrugged.

The bride is a Roman Catholic and Irving is a Jew. He is eighteen years his twenty-two.

BRIDE RIDES IN SUBWAY

The bride's mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, wife of a noted surgeon, has been reported as declaring her daughter must follow the dictates of her heart in the sorrowful, but today she declined to say whether she approved or disapproved.

Friends of Irving's longest love affair, Miss Mackay is heiress to a fortune of $10,000,000. Berlin's immediate fortune exceeds $1,000,000.

Berlin, whose name originally was Isidore Baline, is the son of an immigrant cantor who certified kosher meats in an East Side butcher shop in the days when Irving peddled papers.

MILLION IN MELODIES

His career as waiter in "Nigger Mike's" a rendezvous in the old Bowery, where he used to sing. His songs made a hit and he was invited by friends to write others. He did, and became internationally famous.

His first great popular hit was "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which sold 2,000,000 copies and started him on the way to fame and wealth. Other hits were "When I Leave the World Behind," "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning," "When I Lose You, I'd Rather Be Alone," "What'll I Do When You Are Far Away," "Remember" and "Call Me Up Some Rainy Afternoon."

The wedding of the couple was in the nature of an elopement—one which brought to its climax one of the most amazing romances of Broadway.

A Catholic girl, finely reared, adored the educated a girl who had only to wish for a thing to obtain it, gave herself to a Jew who came out of poverty and hardship into the stars.

She gave up for him her religion, her people, her countless society friends, everything she had known and held priceless before Berlin came into her existence.

At Montclair, N. J., Mrs. A. B. Kahn, sister of Berlin, today attended to her newspaper delivery route as usual. She delivers papers for a small store.

Berlin's Song That Won Love of Rich Girl

"HERE is "Remember," Irving Berlin's song, that is said to have touched the heart of Ellin Mackay:

One little kiss, a moment of bliss,
Then hours of deep regret;
One little smile, and after a while,
A longing to forget.
One little heartache, left as a token,
One little plaything, carelessly broken.

Chorus:

Remember the night, the night you said—remember?
"I love you"—remember?
Remember, you vowed by all the stars
Above you remember?

Remember, we found a lonely spot,
And after I learned to care a lot
You promised that you'd forget me not;
But you forgot to remember.

Into my dreams you wandered, it seems,
And then there came a day;
You loved me, too, my dreams had come true,
And all the world was May.
But soon the Maytime turned to December,
You had forgotten; do you remember?

MISSING GIRL IS FOUND

Leominster, Jan. 5—While a frantic father was leading searching parties of citizens and police through the woods and forests that surround this district in search of his 14-year-old daughter, the girl had made her way to the home of her grandmother in Littleton.

Last Sunday Mary Halligan, 14, disappeared from the home of her father, John Halligan here. When she did not return Sunday night the father reported the disappearance to the police.

A search was made on Monday, and another today, some of the neighbors fearing the girl might have lost her life. But today the father received word that the girl had appeared at the home of Mrs. Sarah Shade, her maternal grandmother in Littleton.

EVELYN THAW IS NEAR DEATH FROM POISON

closed Christmas Day—got punicky. Thought Al might give me a lift for a hundred—wired him—no answer." It was stated that she swallowed at least eight ounces of a powerful disinfectant.

Gussie Acosse, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Thaw's maid for the last four years, gave the police the following version of the affair:

"Miss Thaw has been despondent for several days and she has been drinking a great deal. Sunday she went to a party with some friend and came back about 5 o'clock yesterday morning quite intoxicated and with a broken nose.

"She drank eight bottles of beer last night and then became angry because there was no more.

"Then she went to the bathroom and got the bottle of poison. I didn't think about it being poison until she began to scream.

"I said, Gussie, she said, 'I did it. I took poison. I've killed myself.'

"Then I called her doctor after awakening her son, who slept in a nearby room.

Miss Acosse said that when Miss Thaw left Atlantic City about Thanksgiving time she had just returned from a sanitarium for drug addicts and seemed to be cured.

Continuing her story, the maid said that she hurried for a bottle of milk to be used as an antidote.

Miss Nesbit dashed the bottle from the maid's hand. Dr. A. Thomas Brandat responded to the maid's call and found Evelyn unconscious. Russell accompanied his mother to the Ashland Boulevard Hospital, where he remained with her until 7 o'clock.

The occupant of the apartment beneath that of Evelyn told the police there had been a party in her quarters from 11 o'clock Monday night until early this morning, saying the voices of two men could be heard.

Evelyn's maid, however, denied that there had been a party last night.

"Miss Nesbit was ill last night," she said, "and I was up several times with her early in the evening."

According to the maid, Evelyn had come to Chicago from Atlanta, Ga., where she had spent three weeks taking treatments in a sanitarium.

At 10:20 a. m. Evelyn regained semiconsciousness and began calling for "Alice." The doctor and nurses did not know to whom she referred. Emetics and the use of the stomach pump, her physician believed, had removed most of the poison, and her return to partial consciousness gave hope that she would recover.

Russell Thaw refused to answer questions. When taken to the police station his replies to questions were that he had been advised not to make statements. He was released.

"She is coming along nicely" said Dr. Brand, "and I am tempted to say she will recover."

The fact that Evelyn had been partaking of intoxicants may have contributed to saving her life, he said, as alcohol is the most effective antidote for the poison she swallowed.

By 10:30 she had been given a little nourishment and some water and was resting easily.

Her upper lip was somewhat swollen, but there were no other marks of the poison on her mouth.

Two detectives waited to question her about her absence from her apartment between New Year's Eve and Monday afternoon, when she returned with a broken nose.

Russell Thaw, apparently greatly frightened over his mother's act, said he had been attending school at Atlantic City and came here December 21 to spend the holidays with her.

He said he knew no reason why his mother should try to kill herself. He had talked to her Monday afternoon and she seemed in a happy frame of mind. Young Thaw was preparing to return to Atlantic City today. He added that it was his mother's third attempt at suicide and that on each occasion he was the first to administer an antidote.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 5 (I.N.S.)—When informed of the critical condition of Evelyn Nesbit, his divorced wife, Harry K. Thaw, who is visiting his aged mother here, today said:

"It is unfortunate if the lady is ill. Something over a year ago there was an interruption, but since last July she receives $10 a day, and I believe she earned much more from her theatrical entertainment. I hope she will quickly recover."

MRS. HARRIMAN NEARLY KILLED

Newport, Jan. 5—Mrs. Joseph Harriman, a society woman, missed death by inches, lives of scores were endangered, property damaged and the city rocked to its foundations this afternoon when an explosion of sewer gas hurled 15 manholes high into the air with a terrific din that could be heard for miles.

A manhole cover fell with a crash at the feet of Mrs. Harriman as she was leaving a store in Bellevue avenue. She was almost overcome by shock.

The area of the explosion covered three blocks in Bellevue avenue and Bath road. One manhole cover plowed through a window over a store in the Casino block, Bellevue avenue.

The vibration of the blast alarmed scores, who rushed from their homes into the street, thinking that the city was shaken by an earthquake.

The manholes rained into the streets, spreading a spray like shrapnel.

Ignition of sewer gas in conduit was given as the cause of the blast.

2 $9,000 PLUMS GIVEN OUT BY NICHOLS

James H. Sullivan, head of the division of highways, will replace Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, the understanding was today.

Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols, although he would not say so, was expected to send Sullivan's name to the Civil Service Commission today, together with the name of former Assistant District Attorney Frank Deland, as Corporation Counsel, as has been announced.

These followed admissions by the brand-new Mayor that he intends to appoint John T. Hawes in place of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn.

Sullivan, for thirty-eight years in the city service, is perhaps the best versed man in highway and public works construction in Boston, according to City Hall authorities.

The salary of the new Commissioner of Public Works will be increased, if approved, from $5,000 to $9,500.

Commissioner Rourke has been continuously in the city service since 1901, with the exception of the four years Mayor Peters was in office.

Corporation Counsel Deland, if his appointment is approved, will receive a $9,000 salary. These two posts are the best paid in the city service.

New York, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Mrs. Edna Tinney, wife of Frank Tinney, blackface comedian, was awarded a judgment of $10,800 against her husband in Brooklyn Supreme Court today. The sum represents fees and back alimony, which Tinney had failed to pay since June 24, when his wife got an order for $200 a week and $5,000 counsel fee.

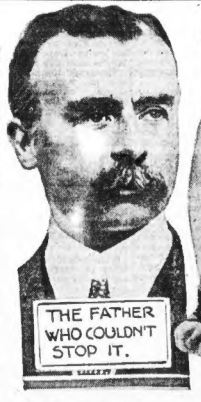
Away back on June 10, 1925, the Boston Evening American informed its readers that Ellin intended to marry her songwriter-lover. Below are shown Irving's hands "tickling the ivories," which has been a big factor in his climb to fame.



"Complete surprise without my knowledge or approval," was Papa Mackay's comment.

Pothier Acts to End 'Divorce Mill' Evils

SEEKS LAW TO CHECK DOMESTIC TANGLES

Rhode Island Governor Also Urges Legislation to Prevent Another Mackinac Disaster

Providence, Jan. 5.—Lessons learned from the "divorce mill" scandal, the disaster to the steamer Mackinac, the "patched-up tub of Pawtucket," and the exposure of America's shortsighted aviation policy, resulted today in recommendations remedying the situation by Governor Aram J. Pothier at the opening of the State Legislature.

Governor Pothier presented a plan for a court of domestic relations, to handle divorce cases, and urged its acceptance, saying: "No problem more serious or acute than this has ever presented itself to the people of this State."

The divorce mill exposé occurred when it was revealed that Nina Wilcox Putnam, the writer, obtained a divorce from her husband, Robert J. Sanderson, although she had never resided in Rhode Island. It was discovered that many other couples were separated illegally.

Recalling the Mackinac disaster, which took more than fifty lives, Governor Pothier urged an amendment to the present steam boiler inspection law to give more protection to the public, both on land and water.

He suggested serious thought on the subject of encouraging aviation development.

Sharing interest with the Governor's recommendations at the opening of the session was Representative James H. Kiernan's introduction of a bill to repeal the state prohibition law and a resolution memorializing Congress to legalize 2.75 per beer.

Among other recommendations by Governor Pothier were those for the establishment of a budget system in State finance, revision of criminal procedure to prevent delays in the punishment of lawbreakers, and more widespread protection of the public by establishment of a bureau of markets, granting wider supervisory powers to the State Board of Health, strengthening of the fuel administration law and enactment of a "blue sky" law for prevention of stock swindles.

BODY OF SLAIN MAN FOUND IN HOLYOKE

Holyoke, Jan. 5.—The body of a well-dressed, unidentified man, about 25, with a five-inch gash in the throat, was found in an alley off Adams treet shortly before noon today.

A bloody imprint of a hand on the wall near where the body was found prompted police to investigate a possible theory of murder.

An open, pearl-handled knife was found near the body.

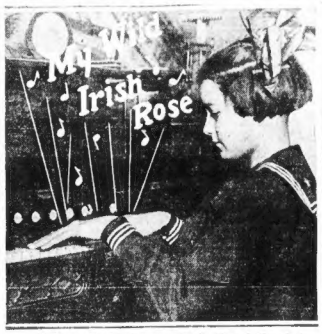
VARIETY IS FORTE OF SOUTH END JAZZ PRODIGY OF 11 AT RESCUE MISSION

A cornet has been one of Olive Ament's favorite instruments since she was five.



She's an organist of no mean merit. Her selections had greatly increased her popularity.

Likes Charleston better than dollies.

The uke is another little pastime for Olive, but she refrain from saying which she loves best.

To crown her many gifts Olive has a winning smile—just another asset she uses

SOUTH END JAZZ PRODIGY IS ONLY 11

Henry Ford can have his Nellie Dunhams, but the South End has its jazz prodigy in eleven-year-old Olive Ament, of No. 96 Village street.

Olive dances the Charleston like a cyclonity, sings as another Nora Bayes, and in "between turns," plays the organ, piano, cornet and uke.

Since she was nine years old, Olive has led the songsters at the Rescue Mission on Dover street, and at the Salvation Army Palace. She has been the inspiration of hundreds of men and women and nearly every night at the mission headquarters her clear young voice can be heard singing first jazz and then hymns.

"I am happy only when I'm singing and dancing," says Olive with the philosophy of a woman of thirty-five. "I'd rather sing than go to school and dance the Charleston than play with dolls. I hate dolls anyway; I'd rather play with a nail and a hammer."

But Olive is not a precocious child. Her mother has seen to that. The child was born back of the stage of the Grand Opera House in New York, where Olive's father was stage manager and her mother an actress.

MOTHER SMOKES CIGARS, SAYS BOY IN DIVORCE SUIT

Declaring his mother smoked cigars and drank liquor, 15-year-old Victor Meirelo testified for his father, Victor Meirelo, Sr., today in Giddings Probate Court, in the latter's divorce suit against Florence Allen in Toledo, charged with desertion. The case was taken under advisement by Judge Harris. The wife did not contest the suit. The boy testified that when his mother left home in 1920 he went with her, but later returned to his father. Two other children are with the mother in Wellesley Hills. The father lives in Riverside.

GIRL IS FREED IN 'DANCE OF BEADS' CASE

Judge Barnes and attendants in East Boston District Court missed something today because Marie Dumont, Shawsheen avenue dancer, didn't have her costume with her and accordingly couldn't do her dance.

The girl, who was found not guilty of staging a daring dance at Master Hall, East Boston, before a stag party, said she would surely have brought along the costume had anybody suggested that her dance might be introduced as evidence.

The police of the vice squad said that all her costume consisted of was "a few dangling beads."

The girl said that had the police looked closer they would have observed that she wore pink silk trunks in addition to the beads. She had danced in the same costume, she said, at the Copley Plaza, and before the Elks and other organizations without comment.

Sergeant Daniel F. Hines of the vice squad asked if she had brought the costume to court, and she said that nobody had suggested it to her. She seemed to regret a lost opportunity.

George E. Curran of the Governor's Council, appeared for the girl. He said he had been in the theatrical business nearly thirty years and had seen nothing objectionable about Miss Dumont's dance.

The male talent was not so successful in court. William H. Barker was fined $100 for promoting an improper show, and "Billy" Murphy, "Hi-way story teller," was fined $50 each. All appealed.

SIR BASIL IS CONVICTED IN LONDON

London, Jan. 5 (A.P.).—Sir Basil Thompson, former Scotland Yard official, was convicted today of a charge of misconduct with a woman in Hyde Park and fined £5. The same amount in costs was assessed. A notice that appeal would be taken was entered.

Sir Basil, former Scotland Yard official, was merely gathering data for literary work when arrested, it was testified in his behalf in the Marlborough street police court today.

After cross-examination of the police witnesses by the prosecution, the magistrate elicited the statement that Sir Basil did not protest against the arrest while at the police station.

The defendant's counsel, Sir Henry H. Curtis-Bennett, avowed that his client's position in public service made it inconceivable that such a charge should be brought, and added that it was essential that the case should not be prejudiced by evidence concerning the happenings at the police station.

BELMONT MAN PROMISES TO RESTORE STOLEN CASH

Eugene A. Thomas of Belmont, former agent for the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation, pleaded guilty in East Cambridge Court today to larceny of $341.56 from the company, and also larceny totaling $255 from John V. Bradley of Arlington and Edward Nixon of Cambridge. He was sentenced to four months in jail but sentence was suspended on promise of restitution.

BIG BLOCK WIPED OUT IN BRISTOL, R. I., FIRE

Bristol, R. I., Jan. 5 (A.P.).—Every available piece of apparatus responded to the three alarms for an early morning blaze in the Reservoir block, in the centre of the business district, which completely wiped out the dry goods store on the ground floor occupied by Albert Aprosi.

The millinery shop conducted by Theresa Hughes, which adjoins Aprosi's establishment, was damaged to a considerable extent. The third floor, the fourth story and three lodgers, the Bristol Daily Echo states, when he pleaded guilty.

GIRL WHO TOOK AUTO SCREENS HER PAST

Mrs. Doris Snyder, or Mrs. Doris MacIntosh—you may take your pick—was found guilty in Brighton Court of attempted larceny of an automobile and operating without license or registration.

Doris, who gave two names, declared that in starting away with the car of H. W. Hayward of Allston, a Harvard and Condensery man, she thought she was taking that of her husband, who left her eight months ago.

She did not know his new registration number, she said, but when she saw a coat on the seat—a coat exactly like his—she decided to take the car, for spite, and go to Springfield, where she has relatives and where a job awaits her.

The big "nut" in the story was that while she was well-dressed, she had only fifty cents in her purse, a sum hardly sufficient to fuel even a flivver with gas on a 100-mile ride. She came up to Brighton court again on January 15, for personality and will stop in the lockup street jail under $2,000 bonds.

Doris says she has three children who were proved to be wrong.

Doris also said that she formerly was a nurse at the Massachusetts General Hospital and the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and the police say she changed this statement and found it correct.

ZIONIST LEADER GREETS MANY FRIENDS

In order to give individual readers a chance to become personally acquainted with Nahum Sokolow, president of the World Zionist executive committee and his daughter, Dr. Sacha Sokolow, an informal breakfast was held at the Copley-Plaza today for the United Palestine Appeal. There were no set addresses, the breakfast being taken to be informal in every respect.

Among those present were: Mrs. Weston Allen, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, George W. Coleman, chairman of the Boston Zionist Appeal, Albert Hurwitz, Morris Edward Lo Gorio, Mrs. Jacob Lowman Benson, Miss Dorothy A. Loomis, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hurwitz, Asa Shulkenet and Dr. Moodis.

Rabbi Wise's address, in which he referred to his "most valuable second service," was a sympathetic treatment of Zionism in connection with Jewish problems in the Jewish future to be solved by the League of Nations.

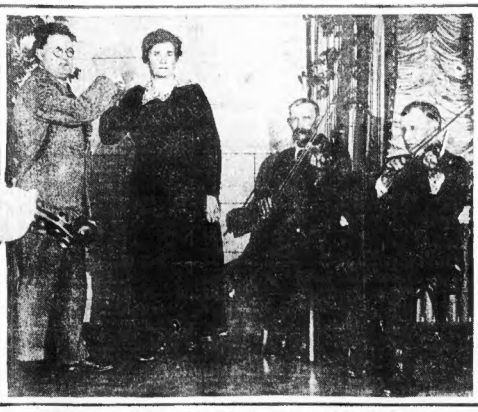
AGE REIGNS IN PROVIDENCE MUSIC CIRCLES WHILE TOWN CRIERS' FIDDLERS CONTEST DRAWS

Among the oldest to seek honors as New England's champion old-time fiddler is Gus Tetreault, aged 77 years, of Putnam, Ct.



A Stradivarius, said to be valued at $20,000, is shown in the hands of another old-time master. He is Llewellyn Powers, 63, of Brookline, N. H.

Joining the Henry Ford crusade, Mrs. Jonathan Whitford and Dan Mahoney are doing a few old-time steps to music by Gus Tetreault (left) and Jonathan Whitford. Just a sidelight of the contest.

A real exponent of old-time dance is Mrs. Jonathan Whitford of Eastford, Ct. She's a 100 per cent. Ford plan supporter.

ENTRY BLANK
GOLD AND SILVER SKATES JUBILEE RACES

UNDER AUSPICES BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

I hereby enter my name as a contestant in the Gold and Silver Skates Jubilee Races:

My Name Is .....
My Home Address Is ..... (Street and Number)
..... (Boston District)
My Age Last Birthday Was ..... Years

Fill this out and mail to Gold Skates Editor, 6 Winthrop Sq.

SKATES RACES ENTRY LISTS FILLING UP

Boys and girls are enrolling rapidly as entrants for the Boston Evening American's Gold and Silver Skates Jubilee Races.

Boys and girls of less than 18 years of age are eligible, while there is one race of 880 yards for girls over 18.

Be sure to fill out the blank that accompanies this article and send it in to the Gold Skates Editor, Boston Evening American, Winthrop Square.

Then follow the stories about the races in the Boston Evening American each day so that you will know when the elimination races for your own district are to be staged.

CLASSES AND PRIZES.

The prizes are beautiful gold skates for the winners in each class, and silver skates for the second place skaters. In the finals gold skates will be awarded the winners.

The classes are:
220 yards, for boys under 14.
440 yards, for girls 14 to 18 years old.
440 yards, for boys 14 to 16.
880 yards, for boys 16 to 18.
880 yards, for girls over 18.

The first of the series of elimination races will be at Billings Field, West Roxbury, on January 16. Boys and girls living in the West Roxbury district must compete in these elimination races at Billings Field if they wish to be in the big opportunity for the gold and silver skates. Children living in the South End or Roxbury may enter the Billings Field elimination or they may wait for the Dorchester trials, the date to be announced later.

ELIMINATION SERIES.

The ambitious skaters must not get confused about these elimination races.

If you live in West Roxbury, Dorchester, Charlestown, East Boston or South Boston you must compete in the elimination races staged in those districts only.

If you live in the South End or Roxbury you have two choices, the Billings Field elimination or the Dorchester one.

If you live in the West End or the North End you may compete in either the East Boston or the Charlestown trials, date to be announced later.

There is no entrance fee charged, but one absolute rule is that you must have your entry blank into the office of the Gold and Silver Skate Editor at the Boston Evening American by January 11 for the Billings Field trial. Entries for the other places may be received later.

MANY ENTRIES.

Park Commissioner James B. Shea has co-operated with the Boston Evening American to make the series of races the greatest of its kind ever staged in Boston.

In 1923 the Boston Evening American conducted Gold Skate races and nearly 1,000 children took part in them.

This year's series promises to outdo even that sporting event, so hurry up and fill out your entry blank, and then read the articles about the races in the Boston Evening American.

FIVE RESCUED SAILORS ON WAY TO BOSTON

The five survivors of the three-masted schooner Myrtle Piercy, abandoned in a sinking condition off Cape Race last Friday or Saturday, will arrive in Boston Thursday afternoon aboard the Holland American freighter Beemsterdyk. A radio to this effect was received today by the International Mercantile Marine. When the steamer arrives the castaways will be met by a representative of the British Consul General and arrangements made for shipping them to their homes in Newfoundland.

HUB-BOUND EXPRESS DERAILED; ONLY 1 HURT

Baltimore, Jan. 5 (A.P.).—Pennsylvania Railroad passenger trains were detoured over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad between Perryville, Md., and Wilmington, Del., today as a result of the accident to the Boston-bound Federal express, derailed at Northeast, Md., last night. The locomotive and seven cars jumped the rails and plunged along several hundred yards before being brought to a stop. Except for being shaken up, only one of the 500 passengers was reported injured.

LABOMBARDE IS CLASSED AS 'POOR SIMP'

case of a ten-year-old child if he were in the place of this defendant."

Doyle finished his argument just before court adjourned. The state prosecutor will sum up tomorrow morning and the case is expected to be given to the jury shortly after noon.

A bit of a jolt to the State's case was given by Dr. Charles H. Dolloff, superintendent of the Concord State Hospital, where Labombarde was under observation for two months. Although called in rebuttal by the State, Dr. Dolloff declared that Labombarde's mentality would hardly measure above that of a ten-year-old.

Two mystery automobiles, parked without occupants near the Gillis home, were brought by a woman defense witness today into the trial.

Mrs. Josephine Paine of Nashua, secretary of the Boostows' Club, said that seven members met at night on the day the murders were committed, the meeting taking place at the home of Mrs. Elsie Wynot, who lives near the Gillis home.

The other members were Mrs. Lillian Begue, Mrs. Ella Britton, Mrs. Elizabeth Marble, Mrs. Elizabeth Hodlen and Mrs. Benjamin Hanson, all of Nashua.

NOBODY IN EITHER CAR.

At 9:35, Mrs. Paine said, they left the house to return home and saw two automobiles parked. Peering into them, they saw no occupants. One car bore a Massachusetts license and the other a New Hampshire.

Attorney Doyle's presentation of the accused youth as the last and principal witness for himself made a dramatic introduction when, in loud tones, he addressed the gangling lad on the stand and said: "What is your name?"

Glancing about the court room and with just the faintest flicker of a smile on his swarthy countenance, the youth answered, "Louis Labombarde."

Attorney Doyle turned to the table where Attorney-General Waldron and County Solicitor Haseltonsaid: "Your witness," he said pointing to the defendant; "and you may ask him anything you wish."

CONVICT MAN AND WIFE OF BEATING CONSTABLE

The battling Weinsteins, Eva and her husband, Max, proprietors of a Hanover street toy shop, were today found guilty of beating his constable Samuel Mandelstam when he called at their place of business to serve a writ. Mandelstam testified that the woman hit and scratched him, while the husband had done his bit with a little more attention to the rules as laid down by the Marquis of Queensbury. Mrs. Weinstein was fined $15 by Judge Duff in Municipal Court and appealed. The husband's case was placed on file.

ORGANIZED LABOR will try to evolve an anti-child labor law that will pass the Supreme Court constitutionality test. It may succeed. Those that make money out of child labor have had their triumph. Those that fear child labor competition should have their turn.

Common decency, apart from the selfish interest of labor or capital, ought to do the work. But common decency has little pull, and is usually sleepy.

ALUMINUM CASE PROBE ASKED

Washington, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Inquiry into the delay in instituting contempt proceedings against the Aluminum Company of American for violations of Federal Court decrees was proposed today in the Senate by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

Some months ago the Federal trade commission charged that the court's decree had been violated by the corporation, in which Secretary Mellon is a stockholder.

The justice department has announced that thus far its investigations had disclosed no wrongdoing.

Immediate action on its resolution was asked by Senator Walsh, but Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania blocked it.

MEDIUMS WAR ON HOUDINI

An attack on Houdini, master magician and exposer of fake mediums, was expected to climax tonight the first day of the two-day session of the 21st annual convention of the Massachusetts State Association of Spiritualists which opened today in Paul Revere Hall, Mechanics Building, in Huntington avenue.

The Rev. William Elliott of West Virginia, in an address entitled "Houdini and Spiritualism" is expected to answer the onslaught against the well known showman whose recent charges against "Margery" famous Boston medium, who is the wife of Dr. L. R. Crandon, attracted world wide attention.

Officers, delegates and their friends will dine tonight at Hotel Westminster. Following the dinner sessions will be resumed at Paul Revere Hall.

John Slater, known in the cult as the world's greatest medium, will give spirit readings at tonight's session.

Approximately 100 delegates had arrived at noon and more are expected.

WOMAN WRITER SEES CARDINAL

Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, wife of the former charge D'affaires from the United States to Mexico, who is on a visit to Boston, was received by His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, at the archbishop's home, No. 49 Granby street, today.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy is a well known author and lecturer. She came to Boston to address the members of the guild of the Infant Saviour at their assembly today at the Copley Plaza.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy and her party were very much astonished when the cardinal when the head of the Boston archdiocese had charge of the North American College in the Eternal City. She is traveling with Mrs. E. C. Donnelly at No. 61 Commonwealth avenue. She leaves Boston this afternoon.

The visit of the noted author to Cardinal O'Connell recalls that famous people from all over the world invariably pay a visit to his residence when they come to Boston.

Cardinal's Guest

Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, well-known author and lecturer, who visited His Eminence today, to mark an old friendship.

GOIN' TO RAIN SOME MORE

Cloudy, with some rain, is forecast for tonight, with warmer weather even than that experienced during the last few days prevailing. However, the humidity will continue to make it uncomfortable for bathing.

Winter will peek up a bit in the Western part of Massachusetts Wednesday, when it will be colder. Fresh to strong southwest winds will prevail until tomorrow, the weather man says.

The expected heavy rains fizzled out before they reached New England and the storm northeastward part of the country had only slight precipitation.

Savings Bank Bill

A bill to provide savings banks (banks for savings) to pay per cent. their deposits in first mortgages on real estate was filed at the State House today by Senator William Thompson of Winchester.

Radio Dept. Manager:

Dear Sir:

I am having wonderful luck with my David Grimes set. I have had the following stations on the loud speaker: WEEI, WJAR, WBZ, WGY, WEAF, WFAA, WSB, WLW, WJY, WTI, WHAS, KDKA, WOC, WJAX, WHAM, WSMB, WJAX, WBBR, WAHL, PWX, WDAF, WEBH, CFCF, CKAC, KYW, CFCF, KOA.

I guess that ought to satisfy the average radio fan. I will close with the wish that you and the Gilchrist Co. have a very happy New Year.

Yours truly,
D. R.

Radio Dept. Manager:

The set arrived yesterday, and even with what little knowledge I have of the radio I managed to get Chicago wonderfully clear on the loud speaker. As I became accustomed to tuning in I received WGY, WEAF, WJAR, WOS, WCO, KOA and CNRC. All in all I managed to get 41 stations that night. And I give all the credit to the really marvelous set.

Most sincerely,
J. H. Neff.

From a Business House

Dear Sirs:

One of our boys bought one of your Grimes radio sets and got it in operation last night for the first time. Between 7:30 P. M. and 1:45 A. M. he picked up the following stations, all on the loud speaker:

WSAI—	WHN—Newark
WSAI—	WHN—Newark
WGN—	WGN—Chicago
WGN—	WBZ—Springfield
WEAF—	WBZ—Springfield
WEAF—	WJAR—Providence
WJR—Detroit	WJAR—Providence

WJZ—Newark	WLW—Chicago
WJZ—Newark	WEBH—Chicago
WJZ—Pittsburgh	WEBH—Chicago
WJZ—Pittsburgh	WSMB—Chicago
WJZ—Chicago	WSMB—New Orleans

He also picked up Louisville and Fort Worth, but did not get the station letters. I think this is a pretty good record, as it is the first radio set he has owned and the first night that it was installed. I thought you might be interested in his success.

Very truly yours,
L. W.

CRIPPLED GIRL, TOUCHED BY RELIC, WALKS

Lowell Child Is "Cured" by Faith in St. Rita; Skips Way Out of Church

Lowell, Jan. 5.—Crippled through illness so she couldn't walk for three days, her little body twisted and her voice virtually gone, Constance Mildred Gleason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gleason of No. 38 Read street, has been restored to health through a miraculous cure at St. Rita's shrine at the new St. Rita's Church in Mammoth road.

Wheeled to the church in a carriage and carried into the church in her father's arms, the child walked, first haltingly and then skipping rapidly, after Rev. John J. Powers, pastor of St. Rita's, had touched her cheek with the robe of St. Rita.

"Walk, Mildred," said the priest. "Walk through that doorway."

Her father, Jim" Gleason, well-known local football player, held the child, fearing to allow her to stand alone. But Mildred pulled away from him and to his amazement walked unaided.

A few minutes later the Fifth and Miss Grace Seaver, Mildred's cousin, thrown whose faith in St. Rita the girl's cure had been sworn to Father Power fell on their knees in the church in prayers of thankfulness for the time that had been effected.

The miracle is the latest in a series of similar cures said to have occurred since the church was built ago when John Manning a cripple for years, threw away his crutches and walked upon after fervent prayer to St. Rita.

Evening American Puts in a New Lot of "Scoops"

VERY appropriate today that we should sing "All Alone," because, beginning with the elopement of Irving Berlin, which the Boston Evening American had "all alone" hours before any other Boston newspaper, we have rolled up a fine list of news "beats" in the last few days.

Here are a few:

Jan. 4—Irving Berlin marries Ellin Mackay, a troth predicted exclusively in the Boston Evening American, June 10, last year.

Jan. 4—"Beat" on wreck of Twentieth Century Limited; re-election of City Clerk James Donovan; exclusive pictures on Tozier outing party; exclusive photo of Eva Algee, Framingham telephone operator and alleged illegal surgery victim.

Jan. 2—First with news of Italian earthquake, in which fifty were injured, and first with news that the steamer Yamacraw was in distress.

Dec. 31—Clean "beat" on $400,000 Haverhill fire; on Revere fire, in which eleven were rescued, and on four persons near to death by gas-poisoning in South Boston.

Dec. 28—"Beat" on nine-year-old Taunton heroine sacrificing life rescuing three in fire; first with explosion on board U. S. S. Florida at Navy Yard.

Just a few, that's all, in the way of checking up. If you want the NEWS when it is FIRST NEWS, read the Boston Evening American.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS PREPARE PRIZE PLAYS

High school students in different parts of the country are preparing their plays ready for entrance into the second annual contest conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association. Each play must be centered about some point of combining health and health service. J. Mace Andress of Boston University is one of the judges this year. C. E. A. Winslow of Yale and Hughes Mearns of New York University serving with him.

Last year three plays from Massachusetts students were entered, but failed to win a prize. The prizes are $100, $50 and $25 with five honorable mentions of $10 each.

EMPLOYES SHY AT TAKING OVER $1,000,000 BUSINESS

New York, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Morris the late Rosenwasser, who thirty-two years ago founded the shoe manufacturing firm of Rosenwasser Brothers, Inc., evidence has built up the business to a valuation between $1,000,000 and $3,000,000, says he is working harder now, to turn it over to his employes than he did in building it.

His plan is to make a gift of the goodwill, but to have the employes purchase the assets from the future profits. Actual work along these lines was started January 2.

M. Rosenwasser pointed out today that when he first considered the plan to make a present of the business to his employes he was looked upon as a mere business experiment. Now, he said, he realizes that he has undertaken a bigger experiment in human nature.

Not the least difficulty he contends, will employes that they can safely leave th weekly pay check for an interest in the business. The weekly envelope, he points out, has become such a symbol of financial stability to many employes, holding essential positions that they cannot comprend a system which eliminates it in favor of dividends.

REV. HARVEY A. WELLER, LUTHERAN LEADER, DES

Philadelphia, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—The Rev. Dr. Harvey A. Weller, president of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and adjacent states, died at his home in Brookline, a suburb, today, after a brief illness. He was 67 years old. Dr. Weller was one of the most prominent clergymen of the denomination in this country. He and the late Dr. W. H. C. Keller were leaders in the movement for the merger of the various groups of the Lutheran church in the United States into the United Lutheran Church in 1918.

MEXICAN GENERAL FACES FIRING SQUAD AS PLOTTER

Mexico City, Jan. 5 (I.N.S.)—General Cleofanas Arnaldo was executed today at Las Cruses Salina, after having been tried on charges of complicity in a plot to overthrow the government.

Other arrests and executions are anticipated.

Deputy Dan De Leon of the State of Aguascalientes has issued a statement charging the governor of that State and other high officials with complicity in the plot against the government. The government is frustrating these charges.

Secretary of War Amaro's dramatic orders have apparently completely squelched any plans for a revolt.

$20 BILLS SOLD AT $7 EACH

Barnaba in 920 Federal Reserve notes were passed in alluring detail in the trial of Gonsino Brignolo, known to his intimates as Fred, in United States District Court before Judge Morton and a jury today. The only trouble with the bargain was that the notes were spurious. Brignolo is charged with counterfeiting.

Nicola Costarus, No. 18 Liverpool street, East Boston, testified that he bought 42 notes in quantities of five at a time for $7 each, and Brignolo was reaping a neat little harvest. Federal agents used Costarus as a lure or decoy, and Brignolo, whose home is at No. 135 Orleans street, East Boston, was caught.

'SKY HIGH' AN EXPOSITION OF DANCING

Willie Howard's Musical Frolic at Wilbur Is Brimful of Fun and Entertainment

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

EXACTLY why a title like "Sky High" should have been tacked upon Willie Howard's gay musical frolic at the Wilbur is not clear, unless, possibly, it indicates the general direction in which the liveliest chorus of the season turns its toes.

A tireless cast and the mind nobly to every call for high theoring in as varied an assortment of talents as the eye has ever called upon to view in many moons.

There were no songsters in "Sky High," no chance for the hands to get into extended and because of this there was no appearance of dynamic interest in every swing of Conductor Thomas Jones' baton. Willie Howard is an adroit comedian—a clown, perhaps, but a combination of rare attainment. A good singing voice makes his task easier and, with genuine artistry and unfailing humor, easily moves across the footlights. Good taste prevailed at every turn of the show. Its ensembles of burlesque, and there were many, were joyously acclaimed. Dignified comedy could not have fared so well.

To But it was the silence that might have presented a bill for Pavertino. This vigorous, active contingent contributed more to the evening's thrills than the combined labors of Mr. Howard's long string of principals. A dancing show, with dancing girls, the program was signed aside for them, who had special gifts. Marjory Whitney stepped out of the line long enough to stop the show with a Oriental fad push and wing. Veronica, a maid of nimble feet and sturdy legs, spoke the final word in fleet dancing when she did it four with a sensational dash in the Russian. As if this were not enough, Dorothy McNulty figured in two acrobatic dances, either one of which should have been called a day's work.

Of course, there were principals, but they seemed inconsistent, except for the airport song-night, give to the chorus. Portorico Piquer, a Spanish lady, danced and sang in splendid form and acted generally quite as a member of the show. John Quinlan, Florens Ames, Ann Milsom and Edward Douglas in various ways added a glow to the performance. Mr. Howard's donations were solely in the interest of fun, and he found himself severely taxed. "Sky High" was just another bit of evidence that there is nothing the matter with burlesque when served with the proper seasoning.

MISS YURKA IN FINAL WEEK WITH REPERTORY CO.

An unexcelled revival of Ibsen's "The Wild Duck," which has been drawing crowds to the Repertory Theatre has entered upon its last week. Blanche Yurka in the trying role of Gina Ekdal, gives the portrait of the mother who kept dark a love affair from her husband, a shrewd interpretation.

An enthusiastic audience greeted Miss Yurka many times at the first matinee and she responded with words of thanks for their appreciation of her art. It is Miss Yurka's first week with the Repertory Theatre.

The play, one of Ibsen's most brilliant efforts, has always been a Boston favorite and a continuing to prove its popularity under the expert treatment it is being given by the present company.

ASSOCIATION FORMED BY RETAIL MILLINERS

Formation of a Millinery Association by the retail milliners of the district around Harrison avenue and Bower street, South End, was announced today. The association has sixteen members. Paul Bernson of the Superior Millinery Company was elected secretary-treasurer. The purpose of the organization is to improve millinery offerings through cooperative buying and to show advance styles in all stores at the same time.

Coming Events

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Miss Helen Thorndike of Marlborough Street to Be Presented to Boston Society by Her Cousin Next Thursday

THE BUD STEPPED BACK into society's limelight as New Year made its advent. A much-feted girl is Miss Helen Thorndike, younger daughter of the Harry Hill Thorndikes of Marlborough street, whom a legion of smart relatives are seeking to make her first season notable.

A FORMAL PRESENTATION under the wing of her cousin, Mrs. John L. Thorndike also of Marlborough street is on the cards for Thursday. Mrs. Thorndike doing the honors in place of Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike, who is in mourning for her mother, the late Mrs. Walter ...ee of New York.

ON THURSDAY, January 14, comes Mrs. J. Brooks Fenno's dance for Miss Thorndike at "No. 6 Beacon street," the eminently appointed home of the Woman's Republican Club, overlooking from its lofty height the vista of the Common.

BALLS AND PARTIES within its walls fit is one of Boston's midsomest establishments) renew again days of its former occupancy, when as the "Draper Mansion" a wide and notable hospitality was its portion.

OF THURSDAY'S TEA Miss ...Isabel Thorndike, elder sister of the bud, directs the group of ...ores—a specially interesting set ...n selected with rare discrimination for verve and good looks. Of the three will be Miss Hope Fenton, Miss Ruth Bayliss and Miss ...ther Proctor.

ALSO, MISS SALLY PARKER, Miss Helen Seymour, Miss ...ty Bartlett, Miss Mary Hammond, Miss Susan Hammond and ...s Lydia Follett, the latter an out-of-town girl who "commutes" from North Attleboro to Boston for whatever bud festivities claim her attention.

TWO PRETTY YOUNG matrons add attractiveness to the ...ene—Mrs. William Eliot Sharp ...r Mrs. Robert L. Raymond, Jr. ...ey were respectively Miss Elizabeth Patterson and Miss Olivia ...ward, beauties of their Winters.

ANOTHER LARGE and important Thorndike festivity, this one centering on Miss Isabel Thorndike, is the dinner for fifty, with MRS. ROBERT L. RAYMOND, JR., is to assist at the tea tables when Miss Helen Thorndike, second daughter of the Harry Hill Thorndikes, makes her formal bow to society, on Thursday.

Mrs. Richard T. Thorndike as hostess, to be given at the Somerset Club just before the next Junior Supper Dance on Wednesday week.

SPEAKING OF THE lovely bride Mrs. Robert L. Raymond, Jr., I hear that her step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fraser, are settled at Singapore, where Mr. Fraser is consul.

WHILE HE WAS consul general at Zurich, Switzerland, the Raymond-Howard wedding was celebrated there, with a smart company of relatives and friends journeying overseas from this country to attend. Mrs. Fraser was formerly Mrs. Edward Howard, well known in California's and, specially San Mateo's smart circles.

THE DUC DE TREVISE departs tomorrow for other fields to conquer on his American mission to add preservation of French historical monuments) after a ten days' stay filled with a whirlwind of dinners, luncheons, teas and meetings wherein he was quite the genial lion of each occasion.

YESTERDAY MRS. HAROLD JEFFERSON COOLIDGE entertained the duke and a small luncheon group before his appearance at the Vendome where, to a wondering audience she spoke in his own facile way of preservation work, both past and future, in the society's program throughout Europe.

NATURALLY FOR SUCH an occasion that social arbiter, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, presided, and naturally, too, a goodly portion of those Bostonians to whom French is a second tongue, were there. Mr and Mrs. Horace Binney, Mrs. Ernest T. Lowering, Mrs. Rudolph Weld, Mrs. Maynard Ladd, they and many others were in the audience.

SCARLET THIS DAY would seem to be a note of glory with Mrs. Russell Wilcox's dinner for the duke at her lovely Beacon street mansion, a setting place presented here in gracious fashion by the handsome Mrs. Thayer. The company ...ddden to meet the illustrious Frenchman was of the smartest.

TODAY EDWARD W. FORBES, ...rector of the Fogg Museum, is host at luncheon for the visiting French historical arbiter of fashion at ...ston, ...ecially interested in French ...ffairs, engineer in particular here may be the duke travels westward on his mission.

ARMED WITH VARIOUS letters ...from Mrs. Clarence Ransom Edwards and others his entree in Cleveland, St. Louis, Buffalo and Chicago is assured, and everywhere the social round will without doubt accompany the spreading of his work.

JORDAN MARSH REPRODUCE '72 PEACE JUBILEE

Historic Pageantry Marks Anniversary Celebration Held at the Store Today

While all the quaintness, charm and pageantry of long ago were combined in the program of the Jordan Marsh Company in Recreation Hall today the first of a series of entertainments to commemorate the seventy-fourth anniversary of the concern's founding, Walter A. Hawkins, director of personnel and public relations was telling several hundred members of the Boston Ad Club at Hotel Bellevue, to his talk on "Sentiment in Business," that "it was sentiment that has made our diamond jubilee."

"Where there are pearls of men there is sentiment, and wherever you have a big business there you will have sentiment," said Mr. Hawkins, continuing with a glowing tribute to the president of the concern, G. W. Mixter, whom he termed "our great captain."

Today is known as "World Peace Jubilee Day" in the Jordan Marsh program, and hundreds of businessmen were expected to crowd into Recreation Hall.

While trumpets blared, a coach and four, with driver, postilion and passengers in the costumes of the fifties, drove through the streets of the city, and pulled up at the Parker House, where Governor Fuller consented for the benefit of the press an invitation to attend the celebration and exercises.

"Echoes of the Peace Jubilee of 1872," was the first pageant today, being a reproduction of a play of that year. The Boston Music Charity Society presented "The Summer of Artists."

Prima Donnas were impersonated by Mrs. Alson T. Fuller, Miss Yvonne des Rosiers, and Miss Marion Newman. The "Big Gilmore Band" was impersonated by Harone's band.

Tomorrow will be Dickens Day, with the entertainment in Assembly Hall.

LICENSE AS "MIDWIFE" FOR PRINCE OF WALES

London, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—The Prince of Wales today became licensed to "practice medicine, midwifery and surgery" when he was admitted to York House with the ultimate distinction of an honorary standing of the "Ancient and Honorable Society of Apothecaries." He is the only honorary member. The presentation was made by the master and wardens of the society. The diploma was enclosed in a handsomely designed casket of sharpen and silver.

WOULD REMOVE "BAPTIST" FROM BROWN CHARTER

Providence, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Action amending the charter of Brown University for removing the restriction that the president of the college shall be a Baptist was introduced in the House here today and referred to a committee. The act also increases the number of trustees from 36 to 42, the six additional members to be elected without regard to their religious faith.

He had seen only her picture in a magazine.
—But that was enough to captivate him.

SUPPOSE you were alone in Africa—with no one to share the romance of the magical, moon-gilded jungle night—Suppose from a magazine a lovely overseas girl gazed at you with a look that said—

"We were Meant for Each Other—Isn't there some Way We can Meet?"

Young Wrynne, alone in Africa, determined to make the lovely Girl of the Photograph HIS PICTURE BRIDE.

IMAGINE the lonely silence of a white African night. Imagine young Wrynne—clean and fine—looking out on a jungle world of coarse barbaric natives.

Imagine the young man, in the almost unendurable loneliness, finding the picture of an unknown girl—his heart's dream of beauty and refinement, whose shapely fingers seem waiting for his hand's clasp; whose lovely features command adoration.

Imagine this, and you have the secret Wrynne confided to his cynical friend—the Major.

A few weeks later the Major sailed to the great city where the girl Lucille lived. By a series of amazing circumstances he found himself in a position which might result in shattering the dream of his lonely chum in Africa—or in bringing it true.

A Live Serial of Love and Temptation Right Here In Boston

READ THIS FIRST

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two pretty sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. Both of them work for Dexter & Co., big Congress street bond firm.

Flossie helps keeps the files under MISS MACFARLANE And she's engaged to SAM JESSUP, who is secretary to the head of the concern, HILARY DEXTER, a married man of middle age.

Mary Rose is stenographer to JOHN MANNERS, the sales manager. She is deeply in love with him, although the office gossips say he is engaged to DORIS HINIG, a girl of wealth.

Because of her love for Manners, Mary Rose refuses a repeated offer of marriage from TOM FITZROY, a young doctor. She discovers that Flossie is carrying on a flirtation with Hilary Dexter, and that he has given her a sapphire ring. Mary Rose returns it to him and forbids Flossie to go out with him and Flossie threatens to leave home.

One day when the two girls go on a picnic with Sam and Tom, Flossie goes swimming and almost drowns. Sam saves her, and Dr. Tom takes care of her when bronchitis develops afterward.

Then Mary Rose learns that Flossie has the sapphire ring once more and also another ring—a little diamond one, which she does not wear. She spends most of her time these days trying to vamp Tom, who is so much in love with Mary Rose that he doesn't even see any other girls. One Sunday afternoon he drives Mary Rose out in the country to see a little house that he wants to buy for her to live in, as his wife.

FOXY GRANDPA'S BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

WE rode over the pampas—you know in South America they call plains or prairies, pampas. And when we came to a cluster of trees Bobby said he wanted to tighten the girth of his saddle, so we got off.

Bobby and Bunny agreed. Bunny thought it was particularly a nice place because he found some tender unusually tasty and he liked trying foreign dishes.

So we rested a while and after a short time I took our lunch out of my saddle bags and unwrapped the three bottles of ginger ale which we had brought along.

We sat down and ate our sandwiches and I opened the bottles with my bottle-opener and then I must admit it was rather careless—instead of putting the bottle opener back into my pocket where it belonged, I lay it on the ground by me.

When we finished lunch I gathered up my kit, but as it happened I forgot to put by bottle opener away.

Bobby flung the empty bottles against a tree and they broke in a hundred pieces.

Then we wandered off for a little walk, leaving our horses tied to a tree.

Suddenly I heard my horse give a kind of a frightened neigh and I looked around.

"An ostrich," gasped Bobby, for there was a big bird which certainly looked like an ostrich walking around the place where we had eaten our lunch and picking at the ground like a chicken in a farmyard.

We moved ever quietly, and as we drew near Bunny said:

"A South American ostrich called a rhea. Look—he has three toes.

We went back to our horses and were preparing to leave when from force of habit, I felt in my pockets to see if I had all of my belongings.

"Ah!" I exclaimed, "my bottle opener. I left it right here on the ground."

We all looked. But it was gone. Now where was it? No one had been there. It couldn't have walked away. That was very funny.

"This is strange. Where can it have gone? No one has been here," I puzzled.

"Oh, yes, some one has," insisted Bunny.

"Who?" I asked.

"The rhea," he said.

"But a bird wouldn't take a bottle opener!" I exclaimed.

"That bird would," declared Bunny. "And look at the glass of the broken bottles. That's all gone, too."

"For pity's sake," I gasped. "Think of digesting a bottle opener and broken glass."

"Why," said Bunny, "once when a railroad was being built down here, there was a shortage of iron nuts, and the workmen discovered that the rheas were eating them all up."

"They rival goats when it comes to digestive systems."

I laughed as we mounted our horses and rode away.

FOOTBALL SCOTCH 'SIN'

Edinburgh, Scotland, Jan. 5—"I arrest you in the name of the King!" exclaimed the quiet-looking man at the football match as he suddenly clapped his hand on his neighbor's shoulder.

The other gave a start. "Arrest me?" he cried with a broad Scots accent. "Hoots, man, are ye daft?"

"Not at all was the calm answer. "I arrest you for watching a football match."

The Scot stared at him.

"You seem surprised. If you like, I will show you the act, passed in the year 1602, prohibiting the game of football to be played in Scotland. By that act—which is still in force—the owner of the ground is liable to be punished, and people are forbidden to watch the game. So you see," added the stranger, with a twinkle, "that you have committed an offence against the law of Scotland!"

The other now saw that he was joking. "Ye're no saying," he laughed.

"It's quite true," said Professor Electro (who knows everything there is to be known) for it was he. "Of course, the law is never enforced now, but it is still an offence to play football in Scotland.

"It dates from the time when football was not quite the fair, sporting game it is now. Hundreds of people were often in the goals were often a mile or so apart, there were no rules to speak of, and the whole affair generally turned into a free fight!

"Some of the fiercer players even brought weapons to help them. Frequently the game ended in a pitched battle between the rival teams. No wonder a law was passed forbidding it.

"Of course, nowadays it is a very different thing, and even policemen watch football matches."

"And that's true," said the Scot with a smile, "for I'm one myself, noo!"

SEIZED RUM CARGO BONE OF CONTENTION

Claiming there was no evidence to prove that the cargo of liquor found in an abandoned power boat four miles off Cape Cod on October 23 last was intended for this country, despite the fact that the defendants were found on a trawler and admitted they had been connected with the disabled craft, Attorney Leo A. Rogers argued to suppress the evidence against Joseph Laundry of Gloucester, Stephen E. Murphy of Roxbury and Walter Jacobsen of Hull, alleged to have been members of the wrecked power boat containing the liquor.

The court took the case under advisement.

NEW AMERICAN TELEPHONE ISSUE SEEN

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

New offering of American Telephone stock is expected to be made to stockholders shortly. I am told by an authority which has usually been correct in the past that this offering will be made either late next month or early in March. The price at which the stock will be offered for subscription will be watched with much interest, since that rate stock is selling much higher than when the last big offering was readily absorbed. I understand that this stock is the most widely distributed in the world.

W. A. Paine of Paine, Webber & Co. has just left Canada for South America to visit the Chile, Braden and Andes copper properties. He will be gone three months.

N. L. Amster, who at the last annual meeting of the Boston & Maine represented about 6,000 shares and now claims to represent 115,000 shares for himself and friends, says: "I am not surprised to hear that Sir Hustis has resigned as president of the Boston & Maine. I knew that he had intended to do so for some time but hoped that he would change his mind and continue to operate the property for which he has done so much during the past ten years."

"Under Mr. Hustis' management the company ploughed in more than $50,000,000 cash for the property improvements and it was under this management that Boston & Maine absorbed all the valuable leased lines, through which acquisition the company's annual fixed charges and rentals were reduced over 50 per cent. with the result that fixed charges and rentals are actually $1,000,000 less than they were ten years ago, in spite of increased capital expenditures. The terms of the absorption of these leased lines were so advantageous to Boston & Maine as to lead a well known public official, familiar with the terms under which it was acquired, to publicly say to me the other day that the properties were a veritable gift to Boston & Maine."

"Only people at close range can have the slightest appreciation of the wonderful results effected by Boston & Maine property under Mr. Hustis' administration. What I regret, after his eleven years of toil during the World War, the coal strike, the textile strike, shopmens' strike and many other unavoidable calamities which have occurred, he would not show the benefit of his improved condition, is that now when the clouds have cleared away and the coast is ready for the enjoyment of the benefit of those years of upbuilding, Mr. Hustis is resigning."

The French THINK

Therefore, Even the Biggest Air Fleet Does Not Satisfy Them

The French who know how to fight in the air don't appoint committees of men that never flew, and then decide that everything is all right, as we do in America. No "big butter and egg man" would be chosen to control FRENCH aviation.

In spite of the fact that they have the biggest fighting air fleet in the world, by at least 100 per cent., the French are not satisfied, and they do not feel SAFE.

Their leading men demand greater security, a bigger air fleet.

And to arouse public opinion, the French have caused

The great Church of the Madeleine destroyed, as shown in French movie of "Warning."

to be made and widely displayed, a moving picture called "The City Struck by Lightning."

The two pictures in this column give an idea of that film. It shows what WOULD HAPPEN to the great and beautiful City of Paris if war should come through the air and take the French by surprise.

It shows in ruins the magnificent church of the Madeleine that stands on the boulevard, looking down toward the Place de la Concorde.

The picture shows the gigantic Eiffel Tower, tallest structure in the world, twisted, bent, overthrown by the power of high explosives.

The French THINK, therefore they take seriously lessons learned in the war. In France they built flying machines, and they actually FLEW. And the French went up to fight in them.

They had high explosives dropped on Paris by enemy flying machines. They KNOW what air war means. Here we are content to spend a billion dollars in flying machine graft without getting any machines that could fly or be used in war. We're a queer people.

The filmed "destruction" of the gigantic Eiffel Tower, another warning to France.

The French do think and act logically. They have at least three thousand first-class airplanes in their war fleet already.

The English know that France controls the situation, and all countries around France know it.

For any country to attack France tomorrow would mean that big cities of the attacking country would be "struck by lightning" by the fighting airmen of France.

But even with their great fleet, far ahead of any other fighting air fleet in the world, the French are not contented.

They are THINKING MEN, and their government is run by statesmen.

That is why they were able to stand, with millions of fighting men against them on their borders and actually ON THEIR SOIL, and still come out victorious.

We are lucky in having an ocean on each side of us, with the kind of war that's coming next time.

Heaven knows that so far as aircraft is concerned the kind of bureaucracy we have wouldn't protect us. It thinks everything is all right. Only flying men are sent up in our defective machines and the non-flying men that rule our aircraft sit comfortably in their swivel chairs while better men than they are killed on the Shenendoah or in defective airplanes. If another war comes, it will come through the air. And when the lightning strikes here our thick complacency will be shaken out of us.

American Car-Owners Pay

THIS CONVINCES ME MORE THAN EVER THAT I DON'T WANT TO GET TIED UP WITH EUROPE IN ANY WORLD COURT!
ARE YOU GONNA SEE ME ROBBED THIS WAY?
300 PC. TIRE BOOST
BRITISH NEWSPAPER
AMERICAN RUBBER BUYERS PAY BRITAIN'S WAR DEBT.
WITHIN 4 YEARS AMERICA WILL HAVE PAID 4 BILLION DOLLARS

WHAT a holdup it is! Only a few months ago raw rubber growers were giving prizes for the best new uses of rubber. Everything from rubber pavement to rubber money was suggested. They were broke.

But the British Government stopped the nonsense. More rubber would merely have extracted more low profits from the world at large. By approving the restricted output of rubber and of prices raised through ironclad agreements among the growers, the British Government shrewdly got money from just where she wanted it—the United States of America.

An important American tire concern is about to grow its own rubber in Liberia. But by the time its trees produce Britain will have gathered from us many tidy installments on the annual debt payment she has agreed to send here.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

RACING is becoming more popular every day and thousands of men are even playing the horses in their sleep.

IT'S nothing for some guys to go to bed with a chart in one hand and a telephone in the other.

A CHELSEA man dreamed he won fifty thousand dollars the other night, but he spent it all before he woke up.

HE was awoke when the alarm clock went off.

HE was so excited that he put a saddle on his airedale and rode bit in the bulldog's mouth.

BUT the dog ran under a bureau and threw him.

HE dug up all the floors with his spurs.

AFTER that his wife made him ride in his bare feet so he wouldn't scratch the furniture.

Ask This Question; Insist on an Honest Answer:

What kind of dispute could we have with any other nation that we would be willing to submit for adjudication by the World Court of the League of Nations which we would NOT be willing now to submit to the already existing Hague Tribunal for International Arbitration—and why?

YOU Americans who still believe in the wisdom of Washington's admonition, "Avoid entangling foreign alliances," should ask this question of your friends who are advocates of our entering the World Court back door of the League of Nations. You should insist upon a categorical answer and not be satisfied with any reply that avoids the real issue.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland

THE girl who stakes her happiness on a man's promise to divorce another woman and marry her is a good gambler, but an awfully poor psychologist.

* * *

There is a "the coming length" in love affairs just as there is in bobs and skirts, and a woman's intuition should tell her just where to "cut them off" before they make her look ridiculous.

Helen Rowland

When a girl has finished getting in and out of this season's dresses, she hasn't much time left for the higher culture, and her religion is all gone, anyway.

* * *

It's a wise husband who understands his wife's "signals," and knows enough to "stop" at the green light of jealousy in her eye, or to "go" at the red light of anger.

RUSHING IN WITHOUT BEING READY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

AN early Saxon chief is known to history as "Aethelred the Unready."

At a decisive battle he rushed into the conflict before he was prepared and his disaster is remembered even today.

The unready are legion in every community and organization.

When you hear a poor speech or witness a misunderstanding or hear of an accident, a large percentage of the time you can trace their cause to one thing. Someone went ahead without being ready.

Prescott in his "Conquest of Peru" records the interesting fact that Pizarro always said "no" when he was asked a favor by any of his soldiers. The reason was this: He knew he was slow in deciding correctly and he wanted to be ready before he made a fine agreement, yet he wanted to appear to have a decisive character. So he always said "no" and then reflected on it and when ready gave a final "yes" or "no."

A famous diplomat whose prudence was given credit for averting more than one war said the only credit he took to himself was that he had resisted the temptation "to do something, which always beats one when one is anxious about a matter."

He waited until he had thought the matter through and was ready before he acted. This is in itself the essence of good judgment.

Most accidents occur because the person takes a step or makes a movement a fraction of a second before his mind has signaled that all is clear.

Lloyd George, whose career has stamped him as one of the most effective speakers of the time, said in regard to speaking in public:

"Those who are fluent are tempted to do something which is known as 'trusting to the inspiration of the moment.' A fatal phrase upon which many promising careers have been wrecked. The surest road to inspiration is preparation. Mastery in a speech comes from mastery of your subject."

Andrew Carnegie once condensed his advice to young men into nine words: They were: "Prepare to your utmost and then do your best."

If you follow the first part of this advice the latter part generally takes care of itself.

ALL SLAVES OF THE GREAT SUN

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

SOME day when the sun is just setting, looming red and gigantic on the horizon and looking the monarch that it is, let your thoughts turn to the subject of solar gravitation.

Consider the invisible arm that that great, glowing ball stretches across more than 90,000,000 miles of space to grasp and curb the rushing earth, whose speed is forty times that of the swiftest cannon-ball, while its weight is six sextillions of tons. A sextillion is a thousand million million times a million.

What do you imagine that the strain of the plunging earth upon the invisible gravitation-arm of the sun that holds it to its orbit amounts to? A little calculation shows it to be equivalent to the tensile strength of a trillion solid steel rods each three feet in diameter! Or, say, of a single such rod, 5,000 miles in diameter! What would John L. Sullivan have done with an arm like that?

Pugilistic Princes

But the princes of pugilism are forgotten while the sun remains through all generations swinging this huge-seeming globe—the arena of conquerors, philosophers and noncntities—around its Josian head. How inconceivably mighty is the empire of that huge red ball poised on the horizon at the edge of night! Great Jupiter, now visible low in the sunset sky and more than 470,000,000 miles beyond the sun, meekly bows to that irresistible control and, with his 1,900 sextillions of tons avoirdupois, strikes the skipping gait of nine miles a second under the solar whip.

And Venus, beautiful sister of the earth, now displaying her uttermost charms through the diaphanous curtain of the salmon-pink sunset light, skips swiftly and gracefully around her circle of obedience and, though her stmin upon the great arm of solar gravitation is over half as much again as the earth's, yet turbed by it.

Look where the Western Fish swims under the stars of winged Pegasus. There, afar off, faintly shines Deanus, a planet fifteen times as heavy as the earth, and almost 1,800 million miles from the sun; yet is it curbed and forced to travel in its orbit at the speed of more than four miles a second. And every more distant Neptune, not greatly short of 2,000 million miles away, must strike the road at nearly three and a half miles a second.

But the sun's empire extends far beyond its farthest planet, out into the darkness where only pale comets and strange wandering meteoric globes glide silently through the encircling gloom. Sometimes we see a new comet that has been brought by the sun's attraction from that celestial no-man's land into the flickering light of our planetary candles.

Marco Polo's travels were naught to such. The sun has masterfully called it as it was leaving the court of some kingly star, perhaps on the leveled edge of the Milky Way, and has obeyed and crossed the deserts of open space to display its peacock-tail of flame in salutation to the solar monarch of our island of the universe.

Powerful Enough

The sun is powerful enough to commerce with the far-distant peers across the gulfs and the oceans of space. He lays his hand on the fiery shoulder of his great twin-bodied brother Alpha Centauri. And Alpha Centauri pulls back, and even contends, however ineffectually, with the sun, for mastery over us, t. e. over our earth.

Put him as near as the sun is and he would have his way, for his greater gravitational force is nearly double the sun's. But he is about 270,000 times farther from us than the sun, so that his pull upon the earth, by the law of gravitation, is less than the sun's in proportion of one to half the square of 270,000. But even so, it is equivalent to about a hundred million tons. But that pull is distributed through the whole earth, which is not perceptibly disturbed by it.

Words from the Wise Men

The mind of the scholar, if you would have it large and liberal, should come in contact with other minds.

* * *

Some temptations come to the industrious, but all temptations attack the idle.

There is a gift beyond the realm of art, of being eloquently silent.

The best thing to do in a hurry is—nothing.

The way to close the mouth of a scoffer is to treat him with contempt.

* * *

The floating of other men's opinions in our brains makes us not one jot the more knowing though they happen to be true—we must have our own.

An orator without judgment is a horse without a bridle.

Friendship is not to be bought at a fair.

A life of pleasure is the most unpleasing life in the world.

Patriotism must be founded on great principles and supported by great virtues.

A great fortune in the hands of a fool is a great misfortune.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

By MARCELINE D'ALROY

ON "CHASED MEN"

SOME GIRLS are SO
GLAD to see an INTERESTING MAN
Come running into
Their lives
That they NEVER STOP
To wonder what
BROUGHT HIM.
HIM RUN for different
Reasons. THE MAN
A woman THINKS is Running AFTER HER
MAY BE merely in
The act of RUNNING AWAY
From ANOTHER woman.

A woman CANNOT TELL.
Of course; the man CAN.
But he DOESN'T.
STILL a woman can
At least SURMISE.
Men don't run THAT WAY
FOR EXERCISE. When a
Handsome man MAKES LOVE,
VAIN WOMEN flatter
Themselves
They are being PURSUED
Just about five.
Per cent. WONDER.
These know SOMETHING.
But even THAT they keep
TO THEMSELVES

YOU'LL FIND DECEIT AND BLUFF EXPENSIVE

Are you one of the people who always "try" the new things as they come out but who never "buy" as long as they can avoid it?

You are always having things sent up on approval and then returning these same things without buying.

If you want a car, you let it be known, and as long as good weather lasts you have almost daily drives, testing out machines of the different dealers, but you finally decide to wait till another season.

It is the same way with radios.

You get each dealer interested in showing you the merits of his particular kind of set.

You say that dealers should expect to show their wares.

But the idea that you are making a salesman go to needless and useless expense just to amuse you has not penetrated your cheeky brain.

The bluffer who pretends interest in a certain thing in order to get service free will not last long.

Every dealer has a few such persons spotted.
